

- A 1 Your sister in law comes over to your house. She is crying and wants advice. She says that your brother assaulted her.
- A 2 You find out that this happened yesterday. You do not know if this is a mandatory arrest situation or not. You see no obvious signs of injury.
- A 3 Your sister in law tells you that your brother pushed her into a wall and that it hurt. She is afraid to go home and wants to know what she should do.

- B 1 You have legally detained two persons known to your agency as narcotic users.
- B 2 Another police officer on your squad comes over and searches their backpack for drugs. You do not know if this is legal.
- B 3 This officer finds what appears to be a small amount of meth. He explains that he has too much paperwork to bother with such a small amount. This officer decides to throw the suspected drugs away, saying at least he got the drugs off the street.

- C 1 It is your daughter's graduation tonight and you must be off work on time. You are short staffed and there are seven calls pending in your district. There is 10 minutes left on your shift.
- C 2 While driving down a fairly non-populated roadway, you see a car on the side of the road with emergency flashers going.
- C 3 As you get closer you realize that the occupants are a lone female with two young children. You know from experience that cell reception is limited at best in this area. You have just reached the end of your shift and your daughter's graduation starts in an hour.

- D 1 During a bar check you see an obvious drunk male holding a set of keys.
- D 2 He is leaving the bar on foot. In the parking lot he stands near a car.
- D 3 He then gets in the car, starts it. Your partner believes he may be a police officer from another agency.

- E 1 You are three weeks out of the academy on FTO with a 15 year veteran from your department. While driving around in your patrol car, your FTO constantly makes sexual and racial comments to you about the public.
- E 2 You and your FTO are contacting a homeless female, who is obviously intoxicated. During the contact your FTO refers to her as a slut and uses obvious racial slurs.
- E 3 She appears offended; there is no one else around. The female asks for your badge number. Your FTO gives her two false badge numbers.
